

Work That Counts[®]

IN AND ACROSS TEAMS

“Work That Counts creates immediate value – people apply world-class skills to real projects.”

Todd Pierce, Former EVP Salesforce and CIO Genentech/Roche

Course Overview

This program provides the framework and skills to increase impact working in and across teams. Three levers, when optimally applied together, can drive inordinately greater impact and results:

Empowered Relationships

The fuel to take action and drive decisions.

Align to do the Right Thing

Choosing to do the right thing for the broader team.

Collaborate Across Teams

Partnering in and across teams to achieve goals.

Learning Objectives

How to strengthen three interdependent levers – applying insights to a current commitment.

How to drive a more empowered relationship, as a team lead or as a team member.

How to choose to do the right thing – for your broader organization.

How to partner in and across teams to achieve cross-functional goals.

Organizational Objectives

Drive and accelerate results and innovation.

Improve working relationships – up, down and across – reduce frustration.

Strengthen professional productivity.

Build a more empowered, aligned and collaborative culture.

Build a stronger enterprise-wide mindset.

“The concepts and message in Work That Counts are spot on! Richard nails what is required to drive healthy change and performance in organizations of all sizes.”

John Donahoe, CEO of Nike, former CEO of eBay, Bain & Company and ServiceNow
